

BIOEASTsUP training for rural facilitators and innovation brokers

Are you an innovation broker interested in the bio-based industry?

Register for our FREE, 2-day online training to develop essential skills for bio-economic innovations

About the training

The purpose of the 2-day training program is to draw attention to the specificities of the bioeconomy field and to the development of related skills and abilities that are essential for bio-economic innovation.

The training is based on Thematic Modules. A special feature of the thematic training structure is the incorporation of skills and ability development elements that further enhance the efficiency and effectiveness of the given professional work by developing the individual's existing qualities.

During the training, participants will learn how to set clear, well-defined goals; how to communicate and cooperate effectively or how can you develop your own circular business model using Canvas Model.
