CULTURE AND NATURE - PARTNERS IN DIALOGUE

PROGRAMME

5-7 October 2022

Vytautas Magnus University Agriculture Academy
Studentų str. 11, LT-53361 Akademija, Kaunas district,
Lithuania

Dear Conference Participants,

Since its foundation in 2006, UNeECC, the University Network of the European Capitals of Culture, has brought together established scholars, starting academics and PhD-students to participate in its Annual Conference, where they can exchange research insights on ECoC and European Culture(s) and engage in dialogue with ECoC organizers such as local authorities and artists. The conference is traditionally located in the European Capital of Culture of the year and is organized by the local UNeECC university member.

The involvement of Vytautas Magnus University in the European Capital of Culture Kaunas 2022 has inspired the university to host this year's UNeECC Annual Conference. By this international academic outreach, the university adds an extra dimension to their ECoC and as such consolidates the "town and gown collaboration", which UNeECC highly esteems in its members. Hence, we are grateful that the organizers offer this platform to the colleagues from all over Europe to get together again and follow up on research into ECoC and culture in the life of individual European citizens and society.

Taking into consideration the university organizers' expertise and academic interest, the UNeECC board and Vytautas Magnus University jointly decided on the innovative and topical theme 'Culture and Nature – Partners in Dialogue'. The lifescape of a city as human habitat necessitates both a nature preserving and culturally pleasing environment for the well-being of the citizens. Both parks and theaters, e.g., contribute to our enjoyment and allow for the individual to meet others, engage in dialogue and create a true community that cherishes its natural and cultural heritage.

To allow for academics and professionals from different disciplines to participate in the conference, the following tracks were defined: Culture, Science and Social Well-Being; Consciousness in Cultural Consumption; Sustainability as a Key for Bioeconomy Challenges; Nature and a new Cultural Mindset. After collecting conference presentations, the tracks were slightly adjusted to: European Capitals of Culture; Culture, Science & Social Well-being; Nature, Conscientiousness & Sustainability. This way colleagues from both alpha and beta sciences will find their place to partake in the cross-disciplinary discussions we hope to induce and promote in an international context.

We wish you the very fruitful work, interesting presentations and discussions during conference events and we are looking forward to seeing you in Kaunas, where Culture and Nature will come together!
